Issue 4 & 11 June 2018

One century ago, the country of Liechtenstein introduced direct suffrage. Prior to 1918, foreign heads of government governed the country with national administrators and the Landtag, Liechtenstein's parliament, was composed of indirectly elected members and members appointed by the reigning princes. The catalyst for the changes was the emerging democratic spirit after the First World War. The people called for a democratic constitution to be drawn up, for participation in government and for the direct election of members of the Landtag. Through the new constitution which entered into force in 1921, the country was given the form of government that it still has today – a constitutional, hereditary monarchy on a democratic, parliamentary basis. Since that time, many state functions can only be exercised if various state authorities cooperate. By introducing the direct electoral system in 1918, an important step was not only taken towards increasing the political rights of the people, the doors were also opened to the formation of political parties.

Through the stamp "100 Years of Direct Suffrage" (face value: CHF 1.00) by Hans Peter Gassner, Philately Liechtenstein is commemorating this memorable occasion.

With a fourth and last part, Philately Liechtenstein is completing its popular special stamp series on nature reserves in Liechtenstein. The motifs captured by Dietmar Walser and Johannes Frigg in the area of Hälos in Triesen were submitted to the highly popular photo competition organised by the Fotoclub Spectral and selected from there. Both panoramic views were split down the middle, producing four stamps. They show the pond landscape in the "Spring" (left and right, face value: CHF 1.00 each) and in the "Summer" (left and right, face value: CHF 1.00). The stamps were refined with silver foil embossing and are shown twice each on one 8-stamp sheetlet. Hälos in Triesen is the largest continuous pond landscape in Liechtenstein and thus a valuable wetland with open water areas with different depths, many different forms of pond edges and semi-natural forests. The area is considered an important resting place for the grey heron and a brooding place and habitat for many other bird species. Besides being an important spawning ground for amphibians, this has again served as a home to beavers since 2012.

Four special stamps with photos by Marco Nescher depict breathtaking views of Liechtenstein's mountain landscape. The first part of the series "Summit Crosses" appeared in 2009 to commemorate 100 years of the Liechtenstein Alpine Club and was extremely well received. The current four peaks also give a vague idea of just how impressive the alpine world of the small state is.

To the north-west of Sassa, the two rock columns that form the "Kelchle" (fact value: CHF 1.00) rise to 1914 metres above sea level. The rock formation has a magical appeal for climbers and is often referred to as Liechtenstein's sugar loaf in the winter when it is snow-capped. The "Mittlerspitz" (face value: CHF 2.00) owes its name to its position between Mittagsspitze and Rotspitze, when seen from Triesen. The "Hubel" (face value: CHF 2.60), also called Silberhorn, is a mountain ridge located in the high valley of Malbun.

The folded layers of rock at "Kläusli" (fact value: CHF 1.50) similarly present a fascinating sight. The stamp with the summit rising to a height of 2585 metres above sea level also serves as Liechtenstein's SEPAC stamp this year. SEPAC, an association of 13 small postal administrations in Europe, issues stamps on common themes every year, the theme this year being "Spectacular views".

To celebrate the 50th birthday of H.S.H. Hereditary Prince Alois of Liechtenstein, a classy-looking souvenir sheet is appearing in a combination of steel engraving and offset print with the three stamps "Green Princely Hat" (face value: CHF 1.30), "H.S.H. Hereditary Prince Alois of Liechtenstein" (face value: CHF 2.20) and "Red Princely Hat" (face value: CHF 2.80).

Hereditary Prince Alois was born on 11 June 1968 as the eldest son of Prince Hans-Adam II and Princess Marie. He attended primary school and grammar school in Vaduz. He then entered the Royal Military Academy Sandhurst (UK) where he completed training as an officer. After serving in the Coldstream Guards in Hong Kong and London, Hereditary Prince Alois enrolled as a student of Law at Salzburg University and after completing his university studies, he worked for an auditing firm in London. He has been living at Vaduz Castle again since 1996 and works for various areas involving the princely assets. The Hereditary Prince married Duchess Sophie in Bavaria in 1993 and they have four children.

In 2004, Prince Hans-Adam II appointed the Hereditary Prince as his deputy. Since that time H.S.H. Hereditary Prince Alois has been performing tasks as head of state of the Principality of Liechtenstein at both national and international level.

Important notice concerning the delivery of subscriptions in June 2018!

As you might have noticed on the front page of this brochure, the June issue in 2018 will appear on two different dates. The first day of the issues “100 Years of Direct Suffrage”, “Nature Reserves in Liechtenstein: Hälos” and “Summit Crosses II” will be on 4 June 2018 as announced.

However, 11th June 2018 was fixed as the official first day for the issue of the “50th Birthday of H.S.H. Hereditary Prince Alois von Liechtenstein” as His Serene Highness will be celebrating his birthday on that day.

For this reason, the subscriptions for the whole of the June issue will be sent a little later than usual. We thank our valued subscribers for their understanding.

“Stamp2Go” is the name given to a new mobile system for our “dieMarke.li” service. This is a photo box (similar to a passport photo booth) where you can have a photo taken of yourself which is then immediately issued as a valid stamp on a 12-stamp sheet. You may of course first check the photo on a screen and if you are not happy with it, have another photo taken. You then select the face value of your stamp and one of three beautiful design templates for the sheet. This way you have your own personal souvenir from the Principality of Liechtenstein!

The system was developed by the printing company Gutenberg AG from Schaan in cooperation with Philately Liechtenstein and will initially be available from 2 May 2018 at two locations in Vaduz: in the Liechtenstein Center of Liechtenstein Marketing and in the Postal Museum of the Principality of Liechtenstein.

Stamp2Go is available from 2 May 2018 in the Postal Museum and in the Liechtenstein Center in Vaduz.

Successful financial year for Liechtensteinische Post AG

Liechtensteinische Post AG presented its business results for 2017 to the public at a financial press conference held at the end of March.

After several difficult years, Liechtensteinische Post AG was fortunately able to again present successful results. Various efficiency measures resulted in a pleasing profit of CHF 2.23 million despite a 1.3 % decline in sales. Both the balance sheet and the liquid funds of Liechtensteinische Post AG are solid. The risks that impacted the company in the past have now been eliminated. Others were reduced mainly to future changes in the postal environment.

Despite good business results, fundamental challenges remain the same, particularly in the area of basic services: Sales in the strategically important letter business continued to decline in the past year. Even though this decline was partially compensated by the increases in logistics and the almost unchanged sales in philatelic products, the situation continues to be difficult.

As a result of the pleasing business results, the balance sheet of Liechtensteinische Post AG is in solid shape. By making another partial loan repayment of CHF 2.0 million to Schweizerische Post AG, progress was made in debt reduction. The loan debt still outstanding came to CHF 2 million at the end of 2017. But if the remaining liabilities are offset against the liquid assets available, Liechtensteinische Post AG can be considered debt-free.

Eye-catcher: A real stamp with a postmark was shown on the cover of the 2017 Annual Report of Liechtensteinische Post AG.
