Information

Official stamp issue of the Principality of Liechtenstein

Following on from earlier themes featuring nature reserves, mountain landscapes and expanses of water, the latest panorama stamps now show some hiking trails etched into Liechtenstein's mountainous landscape. This small country's network of roads comprises 130 kilometres of major roads, around 500 kilometres of minor roads and numerous cycle paths and footpaths. In addition, more than 400 kilometres of well-maintained and signposted hiking trails wind their way across the distinctive mountain terrain. The Principality of Liechtenstein thus has the densest network of hiking trails in Europe.

A small selection of these are featured on the two new special stamps "Upper Silum" and "Towards Gapfahl". The area of the Silum Alp in Triesenberg extends from 1400 to 1700 metres above sea level and offers spectacular views of the Rhine Valley. Below the Rappastein, in the midst of the imposing mountain range, lies the Balzner Gapfahl Alp at an altitude rising from about 1700 to just under 1880 metres. The motifs of Johannes Frigg and Sepp Köppl came about from a competition held by the Spektral photography club. The two panoramic views were divided in the middle, creating four stamps. They appear as a se-tenant on a sheet of eight.

PEN International, one of the world's best-known association of writers, celebrates its centenary this year. Since its inception, PEN centres have been established in more than one hundred countries around the world, including Liechtenstein in 1978. PEN International was founded after the First World War to promote peace and international understanding, with special emphasis on connecting many nations. The association continues its campaign to uphold and enforce the right to freedom of expression. It takes a public stand against repression, censorship, imprisonment and assassination of writers and publicists.

For the three special stamps, Philately Liechtenstein chose quotes from "Friedrich Schiller" (face value: CHF 1.00), "Emily Dickinson" (face value: CHF 1.50) and "Johann Wolfgang von Goethe" (face value: CHF 3.80) with certain words being blacked out. In this way, it wants to draw attention to the distorting and manipulative effect created by omitting information from texts. This becomes clear as soon as the blacked-out words on the stamp are scratched off, revealing the full quotes.

Liechtenstein's contribution to this year's SEPAC stamps is the "Map of the Upper Rhine Valley" special stamp (face value: CHF 1.50). Every year, the association, which comprises thirteen small European postal operators, issues a stamp on a common theme. In 2021 the theme is historical maps.

The selected motif represents one of the oldest known maps of the Upper Rhine Valley. It was probably drawn around 1620 by Swiss cartographer and engineer Hans Conrad Gyger (1599-1674). The watercolour pen and ink drawing shows the catchment area of the Rhine between the Swiss districts of Altstätten and Bad Ragaz with the castles and palaces existing at that time. A big thank you goes to the public records office of the Canton of St. Gallen that provided the map to us.

The history of cartography extends across all ages, cultural spheres and reproduction and printing methods. Today it is thought that maps first started to appear at an early period in human history. With growing geographical knowledge of ever larger parts of the world, the spread of printing and the emergence of an educated middle class, the need arose in the early part of the modern era to produce maps of all regions of the earth in a standardised format.

Official stamp issue of the Principality of Liechtenstein

Prince Johannes Franz von Liechtenstein (1910-1975), known as Prince Hans, was the cousin of Prince Franz Josef II (1906-1989) of Liechtenstein. He was born in Vienna as the third son of Prince Johannes von Liechtenstein and Princess Marizza, née Countess Andrassy. He studied art in Budapest and later with the internationally eminent painter of animals, Professor Carl Fahringer in Vienna. Towards the end of the Second World War, he fled to Vaduz with his family.

Prince Hans' life was inextricably bound up in his three passions: hunting, art and natural history.

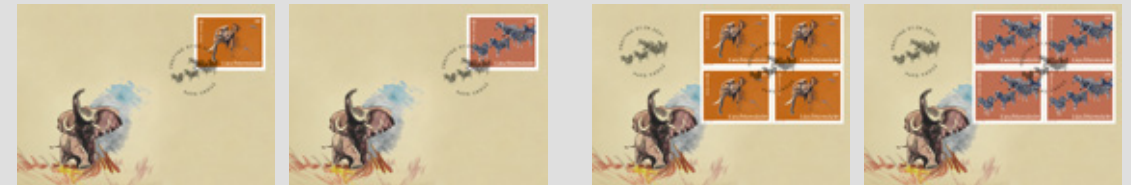

He built up a collection of everything he hunted, described it in scientific terms and captured much of it in artistic form. He frequently portrayed people and animals he encountered, capturing them perfectly on paper with just a few strokes of the pen. The result was a wealth of colourful pictures, deftly done sketches, watercolours and clay sculptures, of which more than 2000 drawings and watercolours still exist. A deep affinity with nature is evident in his intricate works. Two motifs are featured in the new special stamps "Elephant" (face value: CHF 2.60) and "Zebra Herd" (face value: CHF 4.30) in relief embossing.

The COVID 19 pandemic has had us firmly in its grip for over a year now. Besides all the negative aspects that this period brought with it, we have also been able to gain numerous positive insights, for example the immense willingness to help, the exceptional display of solidarity and many extraordinary and creative ideas on how we can overcome this difficult time together. Countless large and small heroes and heroines from private households, families, associations, organisations, companies and even the authorities have made outstanding contributions to this fight. The 15th official collection sheet "Everyday Heroes" is dedicated to all these people.

At their core, the Olympic Games serve to promote understanding between peoples around the globe. The idea of fair and peaceful co-existence is becoming especially important again, particularly in today's world.

Due to the corona crisis, the Summer Olympics, which would have been held in Tokyo from 24 July to 9 August 2020, have been postponed for one year and will now take place from 23 July to 8 August 2021 under the title "Tokyo 2020" – something that has never happened before in the long history of the Olympic Games.

As is well known, the official stamp issue "Summer Olympics in Tokyo" was released last year anyway and commemorates the year 2020 as a philatelic speciality.

To honour the dedication of the athletes and the huge amount of work done by the organisers, we are issuing a souvenir sheet under the "dieMarke.li" label in the year of the event. This sheet is not an official stamp issue of the Principality of Liechtenstein, but an additional product of Liechtenstein Post AG.
